

Critically Exploring Co-production Approaches

June 24th 2021 (9:00-14:00 BST)

A BSA Regional Postgraduate Forum Hosted by Brunel University London

This interactive virtual forum aims to critically explore the methodological, conceptual, and ethical dimensions of co-production approaches with and for postgraduate and early career researchers. This event will bring together the multiple voices of those involved in co-production research including academic and non-academic experts and co-researchers to provide a forum for critical reflection, discussion, and knowledge exchange.

9.00-9.15am	Introduction & Housekeeping (Prof. Louise Mansfield)
9.15-10am	Keynote Chair: Prof. Louise Mansfield Dr Kirsty Liddiard, The University of Sheffield & The Co-Researcher Collective, represented by co-researchers from the Living Life to the Fullest Project Katy Evans and Sally Whitney
10-10.15am	Break
10.15-11.15am	Panel: Experiencing co-production Chair: Robyn Smith <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Dr Vanessa Pinfold & member of community navigator co-production group, The McPin Foundation • Prof. Brett Smith, Durham University • Amy Spiller & Djamila Bulakio ,Young Citizens Programme, Coram • Prof. Louise Mansfield, Brunel University London
11.15-11.20am	Short comfort break
11.20-12.20pm	Break-out room discussions Facilitators: Gemma Cook; Robyn Smith; Bev Goodman; Jake Gifford Building and sustaining effective partnerships & Doing research with integrity
12.20-1pm	Lunch break
1-1.45pm	ECR panel: Opportunities and challenges in doing co-production research Chair: Robyn Smith <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Gemma Cook, Brunel University London • Beverley Goodman, University of Essex • Dr Kyle Rich, Brock University • Dr. Ruth Beresford, Sheffield Hallam University
1.45-2pm	Plenary: Summary and next steps (Prof. Louise Mansfield)

Registration

- Free for BSA members
- £10 for non-BSA members
- Funded spaces available for community stakeholders and PGRs