Which file version do I need?

JPG - standard image variety, fine for internal A4 documents and below and for the web.

EPS - Vector graphics file, can be resized to any dimensions so useful if you need a high resolution image or use it externally. Most campus PCs will not open eps files directly, but you can still use them in word documents by inserting an image - when used like this they can look slightly pixelated on screen, but will be fine when the file is printed to pdf.

PNG - For use on the web.
